CHRHS Training Seed Grant Program

The CHRHS Training Seed Grant Program is designed to stimulate the development of human rights and humanitarian training initiatives. Awarded training grants help fund the planning and implementation of new curriculum, workshops, seminars, simulation-based learning, or conferences either within existing institutions or as a kick-starter for independent initiatives. To read about previously funded projects, visit: CHRHS Training Seed Grants.

Request for Applications – Fall 2021

The Center for Human Rights and Humanitarian Studies at Brown University's Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs is now accepting applications for human rights and humanitarian training seed grants. We strongly encourage proposals that demonstrate interdisciplinary collaborations between Brown faculty, students, and fellows. Although not required, Brown faculty and students may be interested in partnering with one of our CHRHS Global Fellows.

Funding Amount: Up to $1,000

Eligibility: The following individuals are eligible to apply

1. Brown University Graduate and Post-Doctoral Candidates
2. Brown University Faculty
3. Brown University Undergraduate Students (Must list a Brown faculty or CHRHS Affiliated Fellow or Global Fellow as a mentor)
4. CHRHS Global Fellows

Duration: 1 year from date of received funding

Application Requirements

1. Name, affiliation, & contact info of all applicants
2. Abstract of proposed training activity (title, brief summary, projected date/s)
3. Total amount requested
4. Full description of proposed training activity (rationale, scope, collaborations, expected outcomes)
5. Detailed budget (please include other sources of received or anticipated funding)
6. Timeline for proposed training activity
7. CVs/Resumes of all applicants

Application Deadline: October 18, 2021 at 5:00PM EDT. Please submit applications in a single pdf document via email to (seth_stulen@brown.edu)